

String Art 20pts.

You can create a star with almost any number of points by using the following method: Start by drawing a circle. Draw the desired number of points spaced evenly around the circle. Connect the points, skipping the same number of points each time. Experiment by skipping different numbers of points. You may wish to color your stars or draw two or more stars in the same circle.

Try to determine when the star can be drawn without picking up your pencil.

Interesting designs can be created by using only straight lines. One type of line design is made from string and is known as "string art." Make your own design, using either string or pencil, paper, and a straightedge.
